Walton's Plea Wins $566 Increase In Police Budget

It's Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year in Carmel's police department following council action last Monday in granting an addition to the police budget of $566.

This assures a four-man police force and 24-hour radio service, a continuation of the present police set-up under Acting Chief Robert Walton.

Walton had originally requested between $800 and $1000 for his department, but was able to pare this down to the $566 which Mayor Herbert Heron and the finance committee found available.

Heron declared, however, that the council would shoulder any possible blame and absolve Peter Mawdsley, who assisted the finance committee, should the increase in the police budget result in any dislocation of city finances.

"I want that clearly understood," Heron emphasized before recommending a council vote.

The continuous radio service promised by Walton was described as "limited manual control" by means of which police cars are notified immediately of calls, with either the acting chief or his wife assisting.

Walton also indicated that he and his staff would be prepared to go on "stand by" schedule during the summer months if necessary to avoid addition to the present force in order to continue with the present personnel throughout the year.

The mayor agreed with Walton that the council should enunciate a policy for the police department and Walton promised to submit a guide list of subjects.

At Wednesday's adjourned meeting the council rapidly passed ordinances amending the zoning ordinance, protecting the beach, fixing amounts of bonds for city officials, barring taproom pianos and licensing slot machine phonographs.

BOYS CLUB BROKEN INTO

The Carmel Youths Progressive Association clubhouse on the corner of Junipero and Sixth was broken into this week. Fifty candy bars and $2 in cash were stolen.

Hope Still Held For Adjustment of Sanitary Levy

"Hoping for an equitable adjustment" of the sanitary assessments to meet the $63,730 bill for the new sewage treatment works is the present property owners committee headed by Fred Leidig, E. H. Ewig and Hal Garrott.

They and a dozen other property owners, principally within the main downtown portion of the business zone, conferred with their attorney, Argyll Campbell, last Friday afternoon, on what route of action to follow.

Later members of the committee indicated an effort would be made to obtain a restraining order within 30 days of the sanitary board meeting Dec. 13, which overruled all protests.

Members of the sanitary board meanwhile declined comment.

SEA OTTER PRESERVED

A dead sea otter was discovered this week on the Little Sur river beach by Cliff LeNeve and Walter Lewis, both of Carmel, and shipped by the Fish and Game commission to the Academy of Science, San Francisco, for preservation and exhibition. It was an 80-pound male.

CHRISTMAS COVER DESIGNED AND CUT BY GEORGE MOLLER

The Carmel Pine Cone is fortunate to have for the Christmas cover the work of a 12-year-old student of Carmel Junior High School, George Moller, who is in the eighth grade. Moller designed and cut this linoleum block especially for this issue. From time to time The Pine Cone is glad to print the work of Carmel children both of an artistic and of a literary nature.

"The Good Hope" Goes on Sunset Stage Next Week

Nothing is rarer than the author who has not only drawn his inspiration from life, but who also has the creative invention and sense of stage expression necessary to full-blown drama. Thus Brooks Atkinson, critic of the New York Times, speaks of Herman Heijermans, author of "The Good Hope", the sea drama which the Carmel Players will produce this Christmas season in Carmel.

The characters in the play are each amazingly drawn and the play seethes with salty humor as well as tragedy. The cast chosen by Director Charles McCarthy, himself an actor on the New York stage, are filling their roles well and rehearsals on the Sunset stage are a delight as well as a lesson in wise stage direction, according to members of the select group assisting in the production.

This is one of the great plays of Ellen Terry's repertoire, in which she acted in both Europe and America. Louise Welty, a newcomer to the Carmel stage, plays the role Miss Terry and later Eva Le Gallienne filled. Miss Welty herself comes from Iceland.

Others in the cast are: Eiler Larsen, who is Danish, though he fought in the war with the American army and is a member of the American Legion; Olga Taylor, late of the Palo Alto Community Players; Edith Frisbie, formerly of Provincetown and New York; Marion Howes, remembered from "A Doll's House"; Dick Bixler, Bill Shepherd, Theodora Winter, Wilma Bott of "Kind Lady"; Frank Dickinson of "Topaz"; and the youngsters, Madeleine McDonough, Pete Steffens, who plays a blind violinist, George Gossler and Hugh Evans.

Bill France will manage lights and John and Pat Cunningham, well-known painters, are doing the sets.

The play goes on at Sunset auditorium Friday and Saturday, Dec. 29 and 30, at 8:30. Tickets are on sale at Spud's Information Service.

Musical Portion Stands Out In School Christmas

Every seat was filled and the late comers found only standing room in the Sunset school auditorium last Friday evening when the pupils presented their annual Christmas program.

Miss Grace Knowles of the music department is especially to be congratulated for the excellence of the singing, particularly in the cases of the soloists, the A Capella choir and the group of carolers, who showed the fine results of her training in their rendering of carols and Christmas music.

The lighting effects were also outstanding and of special note in the last scene called "Christmas Candles". This presentation, with Lila Whitaker as the statue of the Virgin standing before a stained glass window while a group of girls did a simple ritual dance and the A Capella choir in gowns and cassocks sang "Lo, How a Rose E'er Blooming" and "Silent Night" was extremely well done and is of such fine atmospheric character that it might well be repeated each year as the final number of any program.

Also worthy of note were the costumes of the children, which they had made themselves under the direction of Mrs. Helen Poulsen of the homemaking department. They were most effective.

The stage sets also constructed by the pupils with the help of Milton Lanyon of the art department were excellent. While the dances directed by Mrs. Miriam Watson, director of physical education were fine.

In contrast to these excellent points was the rather poor acting of the children which needed to be speeded up with more attention to voice projection. This was the one flaw in the program which made it fall short of being one of the finest ever presented by the pupils. They seemed to lack spirit in this and lost the force of their characterizations. After all it may have been stage fright and not the fault of those in charge but it was distinctly disappointing.

MRS. DORIS WATSON, SCHOOL TRUSTEE, BETTER

Mrs. Doris Watson, clerk of the Carmel school board, was reported definitely on the upgrade yesterday, although not out of danger, following a third blood transfusion in three days and several operations. A score of Carmel people volunteered blood donations for Mrs. Watson whose work as a school trustee has been highly appreciated by the entire community.

Dick Tevis will be home for the Christmas vacation from the University of California with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Tevis.

THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF CARMEL-BY-THE-SEA DOES ORDAIN AS FOLLOWS:

Section 1. That Section 12 of Ordinance No. 96 of the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea passed and adopted by the City Council of said City on the 5th day of June, 1929, is hereby amended to read as follows:

"Section 12. 1. Height Limitations: No building shall be hereafter erected, altered or maintained in the Residential District with a Building Height in excess of two (2) stories or thirty-five (35) feet.

2. Percentage of Coverage: Not more than thirty-five per cent (35%) of the area of any building site shall be occupied by all buildings located thereon; provided, however, that on any building site on which no building or structure exceeding one story in height is erected, altered or maintained the area permitted to be occupied shall be forty per cent (40%) of the area of such building site.

3. Front Set-Back Line: Except as hereinafter provided no building shall be erected, altered or maintained in the Residential District nearer than fifteen (15) feet to the front line of the building site.

In the case of lots fronting on two parallel streets no building shall be erected, altered or maintained nearer than fifteen (15) feet to either of said parallel streets; provided, however, that this paragraph shall not be deemed to apply to lots having an area of less than four thousand (4000) square feet and which may be built upon under other provisions of this Ordinance.

In any block in which fifty per cent (50%) or more of the lots on the same side of the street shall have been built upon in conformity with a fairly even and determinable front building line located more or less than fifteen (15) feet from the front line of the building site, buildings or structures hereafter erected on the same side of the street in such block shall be erected in conformity with said building set-back line or at a greater distance from said property line.

Where the slope of any lot is greater than one (1) foot rise in seven (7) a building or structure may, with the approval of the Council expressed in the form of a resolution, be placed nearer to the front line of the building site than in this Section provided.

Triangular lots having an area of less than four thousand (4000) square feet, and which may be built upon under other provisions of this Ordinance, are hereby excepted from the front set-back line provisions of this Ordinance.

4. Side and Rear Set-Back Lines: No building shall be erected, altered or maintained in the Residential District within three (3) feet of any adjoining lot or street line, or in the case of a corner lot, within five (5) feet of the side street line.

When a corner lot is combined with an adjacent inside lot and re-subdivided into two (2) building sites no building shall be erected, altered or maintained nearer to the street upon which said lots originally fronted than ten (10) feet.

Section 2. That Section 13 of Ordinance No. 96 of the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea passed and adopted by the City Council of said City on the 5th day of June, 1929, is hereby amended to read as follows:

"Section 13. RE-ZONING.

Any owner or owners of real property in the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea desiring to change the zone applicable to the same shall file with the City Clerk an application indicating the change of zone desired and shall deposit with the said City Clerk the sum of Fifty Dollars ($50.00) which shall be used for the purpose of paying all necessary costs of advertising, mailing of notices and the printing of any ordinances required by the granting of the application.

The application shall be signed by the owner or owners of the real property sought to be re-zoned and by the owners of fifty per cent (50%) of the area of all property situated within the Zone of Interest.

Such application shall be accompanied by a map or diagram drawn to a scale of at least one inch to one hundred feet showing:

(a) The location and boundaries of the property sought to be re-zoned;

(b) The boundaries of the area within the Zone of Interest;

(c) Each individual lot or parcel of land within said Zone of Interest;

(d) The zone classification of each of said lots or parcels of land.

The City Clerk shall advise the Council of the filing of the application at the next meeting of the Council and the Council shall thereupon set a date for a public hearing upon said application. Such hearing may be held at either a regular or special meeting of the Council. At least ten (10) days prior to the date set for the said hearing notices shall be sent, with postage thereon fully prepaid, giving the time, place and purpose of the said hearing to all persons whose names appear as owners of property within the Zone of Interest, at their addresses as the same appear on the Assessment Rolls of the City, or if any address is unknown, in care of General Delivery, Carmel-by-the-Sea, California. The failure of any person entitled to notice by the provisions of this Section to receive such notice shall not affect the validity of the proceedings.

At the time and place set for said hearing, or at any time and place to which the same may be continued, the Council shall hear all persons interested. If necessary the Council may, without closing the hearing, adjourn from time to time until a decision has been reached. At the conclusion of the hearing the Council shall act upon the application in such manner as it deems best for the general welfare of the people of Carmel-by-the-Sea.

No approval of any such application shall be made or given by the said Council except by ordinance.

The Council may, on its own motion, adopt an amendment to this Ordinance providing for the re-zoning of any real property within the City; provided, however, that no such ordinance shall be adopted by the said Council until after a public hearing has been held thereon. Carrere and Emma Evans Recital Warmly Received

It is seldom that two musicians get such a warm reception as did Raoul Carrere, young California baritone, and Emma Evans, pianist, when they were heard on Saturday evening at the Filmarte Theater.

The disappointingly small audience, whether due to a date so late in the pre-Christmas season, or because of other attractions on the same evening, may have affected the artists, but they did not fail to overcome their disappointment and produce for those Carmelites who were willing to take a chance to hear an unusual program unusually well done.

The two artists no doubt felt they owed something to those who did come out, for to them they sang and played with all their hearts.

It is only justice to Emma Evans, whose exquisite technique and feeling make her a most welcome pianist, to say she had difficulty with her piano, one never designed for the concert stage. One string at least was faulty.

To this reviewer, Carrere sang best Haydn's "She Never Told Her Love", a charming piece, charmingly sung. His French descent especially qualified him for "Le Miroir". It is always pleasing to hear French songs sung in good French with phonetics which cannot be more than approximated by those who do not learn the language at a mother's knee.

From "Andrea Chenier", Carrere sang "Nemico Della Patria" most capably, the highlight in this and through his numbers being the richness of his baritone, and the gentle nuances with which he colored his singing.

In the lighter group, "Hop-Li the Rickshaw Man", and "Jolly Roger", his humorous and dramatic ability shone.

Perhaps his best was seen in "La Borrachita", a type of song in which he is especially happy.

Emma Evans was enjoyable in Chopin's "Scherzo in B flat minor", played with a deft touch, and she gave deep emotional feeling to the dark tones of "Malaguena" by Lecuona. She also played Hal Garrott's "Squiffer" numbers, the wedding march and waltz, and one of Mr. Garrott's recent compositions.

Encores were demanded several times and generously given—including the rollicking sea chantey, "What Shall We Do With the Drunken Sailor?"—F. L.

As Our Jo Sees It from Hatton Fields

I been reading where the Commerce Department predicts the biggest holiday sales since 1929. I was nonplussed. So I adjusted my specs and took a second look thinking it sure must be a mistake on account no known New Era person has ever before been guilty of saying something good for 1929. But it checked up—and was no misprint.

Mr. Hopkins, he is flirting with the dog house. He is becoming non compos mentis—as we say in Hickory Grove. Nobody up there right next door to the Head Paymaster—if he is not a bit touched—is gonna make such a faux pas. (Latin or French, it is everyday vernac here at Hickory).

But to get back to 1929, brother, that is what I been waiting for—night and day. I had 2 pair of shoes then, and we had turkey—even without a double-jointed Thanksgiving—and I kept my life insurance paid up. And as I look back I cannot remember anybody who was down-in-the-mouth or discouraged.

But there is one thing we did not have in 1929—we had no Docktors of Economics. But we had good business.

Yours with the low down,
JO SERRA.

SALARY CHANGES AFFECT TWO CITY OFFICIALS

The salary of city attorney was altered from $75 per month plus expenses and special fees for court appearances and other work to a set salary of $125 and an additional $25 for clerical expenses. It was explained at Wednesday's council meeting that this involved little actual change.

The city building inspector's salary was cut at the same time from $150 to $125.

News Reports of "Colony of Esthetes" Protested

A Pine Cone editorial some weeks ago laid the ghosts of Mayor Herbert Heron's "pink sidewalks", but those "haunts" were no sooner out of the way than something new in this line popped up.

Carmel has just pulled out of the grab bag a tag, "Colony of Esthetes", to which The Pine Cone's Sacramento correspondent takes exception.

Amos Barrett addresses The Pine Cone on this subject as follows:

Dear Editor:
Dear beloved Carmel is in for another ribbing and this time it isn't pink sidewalks I see, but something a little more serious—interference with the constitutional right to pursue happiness.

The poor hurdy-gurdy—is it so bass and viol? Are the bistros then to become melancholy hangouts for only the soulless "practical drinker to enjoy? How about the rattle of the pin ball machines? Isn't that likely to disturb the slumber of your forthright city councilmen as well as a policeman's conscience now and then.

Then we come to this "colony of esthetes" business. As a fighting editor who enjoys tangling with a bit of edelweiss now and then, do you propose to let this go? It's a slur and a scurrilous attack.

Yours,
AMOS BARRETT.
Sacramento.

Mr. Barrett refers to the following story sent over the United States by one of the news services:

"Residents of arty Carmel, an ocean shore colony of esthetes, were victorious today in their battle to keep urbanity from encroaching on their carefully nurtured rusticity.

"The city fathers capitulated to their demands and ruled that only radio programs shall be heard in Carmel taprooms, thereby driving honky-tonk and so-called 'sophisticated' entertainers out of the village drinking retreats."

Bancroft Library Given Woman Suffrage Letters

Anne Martin, Carmelite of long standing and one of the women of this community distinguished in her own right, has presented her letters on the woman's suffrage movement, of which she was a pioneer in her native Nevada and in America, to the Bancroft Library of the University of California.

Last week Miss Martin was in Berkeley for several days conferring with Dr. Herbert I. Priestley, librarian of the Bancroft Library, on cataloguing and indexing the letters.

This collection includes extensive correspondence between such eminent suffragist figures as Jane Addams, Anna Howard Shaw, Carrie Chapman Catt, Charlotte Perkins Gillman, as well as letters from Emmeline Pankhurst, noted British suffragist, and the late President Theodore Roosevelt.

There are also many documents and bound volumes relating to the suffragist movement in both America and England, including bound volumes of "The Suffragette", edited by Cristabel Pankhurst, daughter of Emmeline Pankhurst, leader in England.

One of the ideas behind this donation, besides preserving the collection for later generations, is to provide valuable material for students who wish to learn more of the woman's suffrage movement—to which end Miss Martin's gift is an invaluable and lasting one.

The collection has been hailed as one of the most important collections of letters and documents relating to the movement in Nevada and America, one on which the Nevada State Historical Society has cast envious eyes. Years ago the Nevada society was offered the collection, but because of political turmoil at the time, which jeopardized the valuable records of the society, the offer had to be refused.

Quite a furore, in fact, was raised in Reno, Miss Martin's home, when she is not in Carmel, when it was learned there that her letters were to go to the Bancroft Library. Miss Martin ran twice for office as senator from Nevada, being the first woman in the United States to carry through such a campaign, and Nevadans covet her records. Under stipulations of her gift to the Bancroft Library, letters relating especially to the woman's suffrage movement in Nevada may ultimately be returned there when provision is made for their safe preservation in that state.

Besides the letters listed above, there are some from the late President Woodrow Wilson and President Herbert Hoover, from the elder Senator La Follette, Henry Cabot Lodge and many other distinguished Americans. From Jane Addams there are more than 100 letters in the handwriting of this late great American woman.

Miss Martin notes with some pride a letter from Teddy Roosevelt apologizing for not seeing her—written at a time she was actually picketing the White House.

Finnish Red Cross Assistance Appealed For by Organization

In addition to war relief needs already being met by the American Red Cross, the invasion of Finland has created a new need for assistance for helpless men, women and children who are facing rigorous winter conditions. There are emergency needs for medical, hospital and other supplies.

Contributions may be left with the Bank of Carmel or the Monterey County Trust and Savings Bank or with the Carmel Red Cross.

Announcement is made of the opportunity for Red Cross contributors to designate where their funds are to be sent, whether to Finland or elsewhere.

CIVIL SERVICE POSITIONS

Examinations are announced for junior medical officer and engineering draftsmen, on which full information may be obtained from Fred Strong, Carmel post office.

Maritime Commission examination for deck and engineering cadets is also announced by the supervisor of cadet training, U. S. Maritime Commission, Washington, D. C.

"Spud" Gray's Information Now Six Months Old

"I've been in business as Spud's Information Service for six months—six months last Saturday, and I've answered close to 5000 inquiries", Everett "Spud" Gray announced happily this week.

Ensclosed in a swivel chair on Ocean avenue, his window looking out on a busy street up and down which walked visitors to town, old-timers, merchants, Gray surveyed the scene in a reminiscent mood.

Meanwhile he detailed what some of the 5000 inquiries were and what information was contained in his files. A lady once wanted a certain kind of kitten and was told where such a kitten could be found. Gray can also tell you who can embalm your dog for you.

A specialty of his is locating persons called by long-distance telephones. And he's most helpful to merchants, as a kind of a shopping guide. He's a great aid to newcomers and visitors, who register at his office.

Gray occasionally is called upon to perform some feats of memory or to correlate some strangely unrelated facts. He is never heard to mumble "Quick, Watson, the needle!" But he does come through with "the goods."

Although this former actor, bartender, and amateur bicyclist is seldom seen dipping a foot into Carmel Bay, he can state fairly accurately the temperature of the water. It's usually between 52 and 60 degrees, he says.

Handling tickets to most events in Carmel and on the peninsula, he is quickly assuming all the welcome services of a ticket scalper without the undesirable ones. A sub-rosa one-man chamber of commerce, he answers queries from all over the country regarding Carmel's charms.

Art Association's First Ball Now Set for Valentine's Day

The costume dance of the Carmel Art Association which was to have been held in January has been postponed until St. Valentine's evening, Feb. 14. This was made necessary due to the number of activities in the town on the evening previously selected. This party is for members of the Carmel Art Association only.

California Relief Problems Under Discussion Jan. 5

"Is California to go bankrupt through steadily mounting costs for relief, or are we to adopt a rational and practical plan for putting the unemployed back to work?"

This important question facing the taxpayers of California will be discussed in Carmel on Friday, Jan. 5, at 8 o'clock by William G. Reidy.

Reidy, who is a state relief expert, will discuss the "Production for Need" proposed under the Olson administration.

Sponsored by the Carmel Women's Democratic Club, the talk will be given in Sunset auditorium. There will be no admission charge and all residents are invited to attend, since the issue is considered entirely non-partisan by the local sponsors.

The "Production for Need" plan has already attracted nation-wide attention as a program for the solution of the pressing unemployment problem. It evolved from a report made by a commission appointed by Governor Culbert L. Olson under direction of John R. Richards, state finance director.

The proposed program would establish a state planning board to coordinate relief agencies, a public works program, rural housing, and a centralized administration of agricultural surpluses.

"In view of the special legislative session called by the Governor Feb. 1 for action on the relief crisis, this meeting in Carmel should prove especially valuable and opportune for all those wishing to secure information on relief problems", Mrs. Joseph Schoeninger, chairman of the Carmel Women's Democratic Club, said this week.

Christmas Spirit In Carmel Schools

Christmas trees and gaily-colored borders have transformed the classrooms of the Carmel junior high.

The most attractively decorated room belongs to Mrs. Ann B. Uzzell. In a corner of the room stands a large Christmas tree trimmed in blue and silver. The room is bordered by red cornucopias in which holly berries have been placed. In the front of the room is a large Santa Claus which was drawn by several of the students.

On a shelf a manger scene presides. This was brought by Ruth Townsend. There is a snow scene with Santa Claus in his sleigh with his reindeer, Donner, Blitzen, and all the rest.

Around the room are several pictures and reindeer that were drawn by the students.

Each of the students made bright red candles for their parents. They spent many happy hours dipping the candles in paraffin.

—Henrietta Erickson.

CHRISTMAS AFFAIR

Last Wednesday afternoon Miss Adele Osborn's ninth grade class had a gala Christmas party.

Underneath a beautifully decorated tree covered with shiny baubles and glistening icicles, were many beautiful presents. As the pupils of the class had exchanged names, a present for everyone was under the tree.

While everybody was crunching candy canes the presents were passed out. Paper wrappings went flying everywhere, and there were exclamations of ohs and ahs! Finally the room quieted down and order was restored.

After school Miss Osborne's class and Mrs. Phyllis Walker's class went down to the lunch room to dance.

SEVENTH GRADE PARTY

Mr. Wilson Getsinger's seventh grade worked hard for a week to make their party on Wednesday a success.

Students on the committee were: Chairman Kathleen McAuley, Bonnie Dee Olson, Leo Juri, Joy Melrose, and Billy Askew.

Presents for each member of the class were assembled under a gaily decorated Christmas tree. Names had been drawn with great secrecy during the previous week. After the distribution of gifts, games were played and cake and cider were served.

—Bonnie Dee Olson.

Yule Thoughts

Christmas is a day that every person in the world should think of, not as just a day for presents and festivities, but as the symbol of "peace on earth, good will towards men." People everywhere in the world, even those who do not recognize its beautiful religious significance, unite joyously in this time of gift-giving and "good will to all."

Once there was a man who tried, because he admired the gentle and kind character of Christ, to spend his money to make other people happy. He went about placing coins and gifts in the homes of the poor. But he did all this in secret. This good man's name was Nicholas. People called him Saint Nicholas when he died.

Every person may do the same thing, maybe not with presents and gifts, but with a kind word, or a Merry Christmas this year.

—Marie Elizalde.

NICKEL DANCE HELD

A nickel dance was held in the Sunset school lunch room by the Photography Club to raise money for a photo contest. More than 35 boys and girls attended.

Punch was served for two cents a glass and it quenched the thirst of many dancers. The Beer Barrel Polka caused many a collision and stumble but the party ended with everybody laughing and in gay spirits.

Those on the committee were Betty Bucklen, Eileen McEldowney, and Margaret Wishart. The teachers in charge were Miss Adele Osborn and Miss Isabel Shultzberg.

—Marie Elizalde.

PLAN AMATEUR HOUR

To provide entertainment for each student body meeting is one of the duties of the social committee which has been overlooked since the beginning of school. At the last council meeting the chairman of the social committee, Martina Tait, discussed the matter with the rest of the council members. It was decided that there was enough talent around school to provide an entertaining amateur hour. The chairman said that she would present their suggestions to her committee. After the various other committee chairmen gave their reports, the meeting was adjourned. —Cornelia Shuman.

Washington Five Downs Carmelites

Carmel Junior High's biggest game of the year took place last week when the Carmel lightweight basketball team played the Washington School from Salinas. From the tip-off to the last second, both teams fought hard, and fairly.

In the first quarter the Carmel team was greatly surprised at the fast playing of the small but speedy opponents. All through the rest of the game Carmel played hard for points and got them, although the final score was 6 to 5 in favor of the Washington School.

The game was a lot of fun for the players and spectators. This is the first time Carmel has competed against another school for three or four years. —Jim Handley.

TEACHERS' VACATION PLANNED

Family reunions will make up the holidays of most of the teachers at the Carmel schools. Among those who will visit relatives and friends in other parts of the state are Clifford O. Squier, who goes to Chico; Isabel Osborne and Bernice Riley, whose families are in Oakland; Arthur Hull and Isabel Schultzberg, San Francisco; Ann Uzzell, Hanford; Ernest Calley, Nevada City; Frances Johnson, San Jose; and Phyllis Walker, Grace Knowles, Eileth McQuilkin, and Lilly C. Trowbridge, who are with their families in Pacific Grove. J. W. Getsinger will go to Phoenix, Ariz., to visit his mother.

PRACTICALLY SETTLED

Carmel's police problem, which flared into a burning public controversy just three months ago, after smoldering under the surface for a long time, has just about been settled in the last eight or ten days. The members of the council and the police department deserve a lot of credit for the manner in which the situation was eventually handled, although the start that was made was not auspicious.

In this connection, there is a possibility that the newspapers played a helpful role, for they certainly got under the skin of the members of the council and probably made council members resolve to straighten out the tangle if only to show up the "sensational press".

At any rate, a good job has been done. The acting chief of police at a council meeting a week ago submitted an excellent, well thought out report containing recommendations based on an informed and thorough study of Carmel's situation. The reception of that report by the council was enlightened and intelligent. The fact that what the chief recommended was contrary to what the council attempted to do several months ago as an economy measure was recognized, but the council also recognized that, having selected a chief, it had to weigh carefully his recommendations.

The result is that Carmel will continue to have a four-man police force and twenty-four hour use of the department's radio equipment. This has been possible because of the ingenious use the chief has been able to make of the department's facilities and because of the council's willingness to increase the police budget by five hundred or so dollars.

It is apparent that the council is satisfied with the man it picked to head the police department. The actions of the chief since his appointment have been intelligent and reasonable. He has shown every indication of justifying the council's faith in him. Both he and the council are deserving of hearty congratulations, the former for doing a good job, the latter for wholeheartedly supporting a man doing a good job.

We should have harmony in police matters for some time to come. The Council and the police are working together smoothly and efficiently. Morale in the police department is at a high level. Apparently, too, the public recognizes the good that has come out of the tangle of several months ago and is quite satisfied that the police department is once again functioning efficiently. Only a few things remain to be done. We believe that the present acting chief should be made permanent chief as an indication of the council's satisfaction with what he has done, and to put squarely on Mr. Walton's shoulders complete responsibility for his department. An acting chief doesn't carry the load the way a permanent chief does.

We also anticipate the early approval by the council of a statement of policy for the police department. It was the acting chief's idea that this should be done, and the council accepted it readily.

All in all, then, we have seen in the last few months an effective example of the functioning of democracy. Everything was in an awful mess. Everybody was mad. But just because the steam was allowed to blow off, because all ideas had their airing, we've reached a solution which is normal and satisfactory, with no bad feelings to fester under the surface. Good work, ladies and gentlemen of the council.

After a lull in the amateur stage in Carmel, this form of entertainment is in for a busy Christmas season. Ably directed by Herbert Heron and Charles McCarthy, these productions deserve support.

—From Poems by MARY PAULINE WRIGHT.

CHRIST-BIRTH

*Night lies black on the plowlands;
Earth is indrawn and still;
A great star breaks its silver
Over the light-rimmed hill.*

*Here in the land of the promise,
Who will watch through the night
For the song on the lips of darkness,
The strange unearthly light?*

*What is the heart but a manger
For cattle gaunt and thin?
Till the Spirit descends with singing,
And the Christ-child wakes therein.*

—ANON.

NATIVITY OF LOVE

*In this dark hour of earth, when night is longest
And hope has shrunk into the narrow space
Between two years, when victory to the strongest
Defers, and to the ruthless goes the race,
Behold, a star moves over heaven slowly
And stands with clear prophetic light above
The heart's bare room, where hushed among the holy
Is found the pure nativity of love.*

*O pray no longer with the sound of weeping
To change the world's disaster at a stroke—
But on the inner fields a watch be keeping;
Be listening for the words the angel spoke;
For cradled in the winter of despair
Is born the One Beloved of our prayer!*

—DORA HAGEMeyer.

LOGOS

*In the beginning before you were, at all,
O light, so lovely now, and passing bird,
And flower shining in the white rainfall,—
In the beginning, you were of the word,
Out of the word gone forth, below, above,
Blessing the earth and the air and the eyes of men,
So long, long-since, and the word was very love,
And still is love—and lonely, seeks you again.*

*Come home to the bough again, come home, come home,
O passing bird, so lovely in air, so lost,
And delicate flower, so soon to sleep in the loam,
By silence slain, the bright, the loveless sinning,
Come into the word, where is no desecrate frost,
The word is love, as it was in the beginning.*

From "Voices"—DAVID MORTON.

PREPARE FOR WAR GAMES

While flights of bombing planes overhead continue to cause necks to be craned, an extension of war games to the land and sea areas of this part of the country, especially the Monterey Peninsula and adjoining districts, is planned.

Troops will march over established farm roads, although previously confined to the public highways, and the Pacific Fleet will operate in nearby waters in maneuvers which have for their purpose "to ensure effective and efficient cooperation and coordination between land and sea branches of the national defense."

According to Associated Press dispatches in the Monterey Peninsula Herald, air forces will also join in the war games, so that an exciting time can be visualized for Uncle Sam's protectors.

According to announced details, all firing, regardless of caliber of weapon, will be confined strictly to the federal reservation. Troop movements throughout this territory will be confined to existing roads, and any possible damage to private property incurred through the maneuvers will be taken care of by the army.

Col. Roger S. Fitch, retired former commandant of the Presidio, who heads the committee on occasional use of farm roads by marching troops, stresses public information regarding these maneuvers so that land owners and others resident in the approximate 3000 square miles surrounding the Camp Ord reservation will understand the requirements and details of the situation in order to cooperate harmoniously. The area affected is bounded by the Pajaro river on the north to Bitterwater, along the coast to Big Sur, and extends inland to Jolon and King City.

In January, 10,000 troops will move to Camp Ord, being the Third division, 15th infantry, 11th cavalry, second battalion of the 76th field artillery, G. H. Q. west coast air force, and a bombardment squadron from the east coast. The major portion of the U. S. fleet usually based in the San Pedro-San Diego area, together with a half-dozen army transports from the north, will be active along the coast—somewhere between San Francisco and Santa Barbara. All of which details give an idea of the extensive nature of these operations.

Captain Hans Langsdorff went down with his ship.

The newspapers didn't say so because the captain did not physically go down with the Admiral Graf Spee.

When he set off the charge that blew his command sky high and sank her off Montevideo, the captain's heart must have taken a terrible beating.

You can't destroy such a beautiful, if terrible, thing as a pocket battleship, when she's your own, without sinking with her, much deeper than the 25 feet in which the Spee now rests.

Captain Langsdorff won't get over that in the rest of his lifetime.

(Ed.'s Note: Since this was written Captain Langsdorff committed suicide.)

Heywood Broun, president of the American Newspaper Guild, is dead.

That Broun was a great columnist will stand second to his fathering of the Guild, in the eyes of generations of newspapermen to come.

Many, perhaps most, old-time newspapermen grieve over changed conditions of their world. Some may blame Broun for the great encouragement he gave those whose combined struggle resulted in the solid establishment of the Guild.

Nevertheless he helped to make the newspaperman's life a little more secure, a little more balanced, a little less romantic perhaps—but the romance was always paid for in heartbreaks.

The Guild will stand as Broun's memorial. He needs no other.

So this is Christmas!
It's a happy season for so many people.

It's a sad season for so many people, who might have had happiness at this time.

The Christmas trees are symbols for both the happy and unhappy. They put on their annual festive baubles, their lights, and the crowning star, and blossom for a few days.

But they are cut off and soon fade away, lost children of the parent forest.

Women drivers express their individualities more than men.

A timid woman will pause for a long time at a stop sign. An overconfident woman will back far out of a parking space.

A belligerent woman driver will tell you where to go, if you get in her way.

Most men are fairly good drivers, but a good woman driver, although rare, need take the back seat to no mere male.

A Monterey man proposes a state tax on dogs, the idea being to tax the pampered dogs for relief to those humans who are not pampered.

Social justice extended to the Animal Kingdom!

Most Carmel people would be hit twice by such a tax, paying both a local license and a state tax.

What a groan would go up from those who have collections of assorted dogs!

But such a tax would be unfair. The Bible says something about giving to him that hath and taking even that which he hath from him that hath not.

Obviously, however, you can't take much away from the man who hath not, so things in this workaday world have to go the other way.

Here's a suggestion on this dog tax business, one that might be considered in rewriting the city dog tax ordinance:

Establish a sliding scale for more than one dog per family; exempt working dogs, such as watch dogs, Seeing-Eye dogs, sheep dogs.

Classify, and tax like —, the nuisance dogs. You can figure out for yourself what nuisance dogs are.

Then, just as cats are included in the present city ordinance, apply the tax to them, starting at the first cat more than one to the family.

That would make the dogs happy to think that they were not being discriminated against.

A final suggestion: Divert part of the money collected to cleaning up after Carmel's dogs. That won't make anybody mad!—T. F.

Carmel Pistol Club Celebrates

Members of the Carmel Pistol Club enjoyed the club's annual dinner at William's Restaurant last week with nearly 30 members gathered around the festive board for turkey.

Col. O. N. Ford, veteran shot and organizer of the Del Monte Gun Club, was the guest of honor and reminisced on phases of his career as a marksman. Col. Ford wore his medal-covered coat and explained many of the high awards he holds in the shooting world, including the rare 95 per cent gold medal for 2000 rounds.

He also digressed to other subjects, speaking always in a humorous and interesting manner. Col. Ford also showed an ebony cane presented him as organizer and for nine years officer of the Pacific International Trapshooting Association. He had high praise for the Carmel Pistol Club.

Arthur Hull, president, was in the chair with Hugh Comstock, Col. Ford and Gil Severns among those at the head table.

Off the point

For several months or more the pendulum that swung so far in one direction has been on its way back. Former President Hoover is no longer the scapegoat for those things which happened a decade ago. A slow, unsensational man like Senator Taft of Ohio is being hailed as the most likely Republican candidate for the presidential nomination. John L. Lewis and, on the Pacific Coast, Harry Bridges are being viewed with more and more as a candidate by their own followers.

The resurgence of popularity for Herbert Hoover is one of the most amazing political phenomena of the current century. The magazine Time in a current issue traces the rebirth of confidence in the former president. It is a remarkable tribute to the innate soundness of the man's character that the swing back to him has been on his own terms. He has steadfastly held to the ideas which he held ten years ago. The country has come back to Hoover. He has not modified his philosophy to make it palatable to public taste.

Years ago, when I was working in New York, Tammany Hall was looking for a candidate to run against the then mayor of New York City, "Red Mike" Hylan. The name of James J. Walker, a dapper, song-writing state legislator and man-about-town came up. "That's the man," a Tammany squire is reported to have cried. "But will he make a good mayor?" another asked. "I don't know about that," was the answer, "but he'll make one hell of a good candidate." There's an indication of the temper of the people that a sober, colorless man like Taft should be considered the best candidate the Republican party can offer.

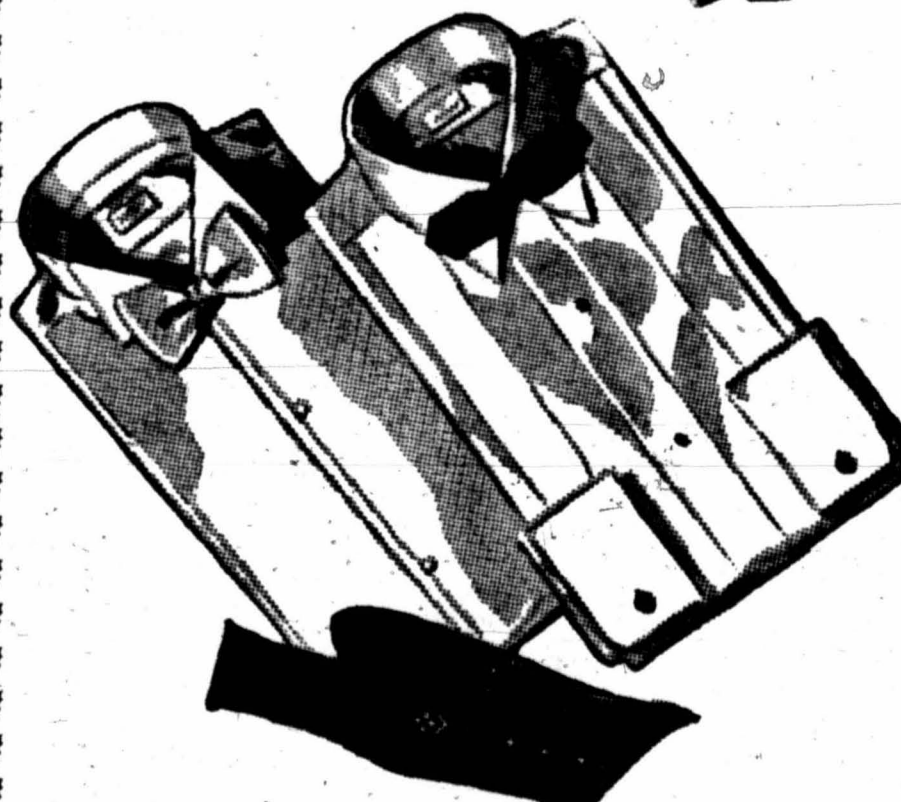

Taft is an intelligent man; he is an industrious man; apparently, too, he is even a courageous man, but he is not the kind of candidate who would have been selected a few years ago. Now, though, the country is becoming interested in the more sedate virtues. A conservative Republican may not be elected president, but he's going to receive a whole lot more votes than did Landon. Taft typifies the political virtues which made the late Calvin Coolidge such a popular figure. He's a homely, trustworthy figure. He may not be nominated, or elected if nominated, but the interest he's creating is another indication of our turn back toward the things we used to believe in.

The growing unpopularity of the more leftist labor leaders is still another indication of the same sentiment. From sources in touch with the labor situation on the Pacific Coast comes information of dissatisfaction among longshoremen in the out-ports. Apparently no serious dissension has arisen yet in San Francisco, but San Pedro is reported to have a strong anti-Bridges group. Due to the swing away from the left, this sentiment even among the workers themselves will grow rather than decrease.

The pendulum swings one way. Then it swings back. And each time it swings a little too far. We'll all be a lot happier if the swing to the right is not quite so far in that direction as was the swing to the left in the other.—A. M.

Alvin Jacob Beller, son of Mrs. Clara L. Beller of Carmel, has arrived in Santa Fe, N. M., where he has taken a studio for a month in order to paint in that region and also take colored movies. He has made these color films wherever he has gone on his travels and now has a most interesting collection. He will show some of his films for the orphanage connected with the Roman Catholic Cathedral in Santa Fe and also for the Art school. He has been in Mexico for some time and on leaving Santa Fe is planning to visit Carmel. He is a member of the Carmel Art Association exhibiting two portraits in the current show.

John Nesbitt, director for MGM, who recently bought the Marion Holins property near Cypress Point, will be host to the entire Nesbitt family for Christmas. They will gather in his colonial house in Coldwater Canyon in Beverly Hills. Present will be Ronald, commentator for the Columbia broadcasting system; Richard, senior at the University of California, and Philip, Carmel, artist and writer. It is a custom for the members of the family and their guests to toast him each year during dinner.

Mulaika Barclay of Carmel, a sophomore student on the Berkeley campus of the University of California, has been elected a member of the Honor Students Association. This indicates particular scholastic distinction, as the grade requirements for sophomore honor students are higher than for junior or senior members.

Arturo Toscanini, famed conductor, was in Carmel on Tuesday. He had been in San Francisco to attend the concert given by his son-in-law, Vladimir Horowitz, and was on his way to Los Angeles by motor down the coast highway. He stopped here to have lunch and visit the daughters of his old friend, Mrs. Malcolm Whitman of New York, Miss Elizabeth and Miss Liana Whitman, who are living in the Kellogg house at the Highlands. It is Mr. Toscanini's first trip to California and he was especially impressed with the country in this region which recalled to him the Italian Riviera and he thought that he would like to return again some day for a longer stay. The Whitmans invited Mr. and Mrs. Robinson Jeffers and Mrs. J. O. Greenan to meet Mr. Toscanini and they spent several hours chatting with the maestro and heard all about his naughty little granddaughter who had adventurously cropped her hair with a pair of scissors. With the conductor was his wife, Donna Carla, and their friend, Pauline Polk, a painter who lives in Beverly Hills. After leaving Los Angeles the Toscaninis will return to New York by the way of the Grand Canyon.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Hathaway of San Francisco came to Carmel to visit their daughter, Mrs. Marie Short, last week-end.

Guests of Mrs. J. E. Abernethy on Tuesday were Miss Helen Currie and Miss Florence Baker of Salinas. The Abernethys are holding open house for their friends this week at their home on San Antonio street. For the Christmas week-end they will have as their guests Mr. and Mrs. Charles Faser of San Jose.

Mrs. Alastair Miller came up from her ranch on the Gaviota Pass on Wednesday. She was met in King City by her mother, Mrs. Susan Porter. They will both be in Carmel for the Christmas holidays. Mrs. Miller will be joined by her husband this week-end.

Around the Christmas dinner table at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Byington Ford will be seated Mrs. Ford's mother, Mrs. S. W. Robinson, her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Lipman of Oakland, and her daughter, Roe Marie Arlen.

Mrs. J. O. Greenan invited several friends of her son, Jimmy, to lunch on Saturday and afterward took them to the theater on the occasion of his thirteenth birthday. The guests were Jimmy Handley, Sandy and Ty Burhans, Junior Levinson, John Graham, Bill Monroe, Dick Rohr, Irving Williams, Bill Goss, Bud Yerkes, Baird Bardarson and Bob Holm.

Homer R. Levinson arrived home on Wednesday from the University of California where he is in his freshman year. Howard was graduated from Monterey Union High School last year and before that attended Sunset school. He has made a very fine record at the university, having obtained A's and B's in all his grades. He will be with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Levinson, for a month.

Miss Nancy Leffingwell, who has been seriously ill in Baltimore, is now out of the hospital and recuperating in a rest home. Her mother, Mrs. Ernest Leffingwell, will return to the Pacific Coast for Christmas. Her family will leave Carmel this week to join her in Pasadena where they will stay over the holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Meany.

Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Rickard, who are spending the winter at La Playa Hotel, will go to San Francisco for Christmas to be with their son, Dr. John Rickard.

Stuyvesant Fish, who is attending Harvard University, is flying west to spend ten days with his father, Sidney Fish. Also at Palo Corona ranch, for the holidays will be Mrs. Fish's children, Shellah Moore, who is a student at Douglas School, and David Moore, who is a pupil at the Santa Barbara School for Boys. Mrs. Fish will entertain at dinner followed by dancing on Christmas Eve for about 30 friends of both Shellah and Stuyvesant.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Matthews will spend Christmas in San Francisco where their sons and daughters with their wives and husbands and children, will gather at the home of Miss Phoebe Matthews for Christmas dinner.

Mrs. Karl Hoffman will have her sister, Miss Laura Dierssen of Carmel, at her home in San Francisco for Christmas.

Donnan Jeffers will be home this week-end to visit his parents. Mr. and Mrs. Robinson Jeffers. Garth Jeffers will be unable to come home from the Bell ranch in New Mexico for the holidays.

Mohawk Battles Storied in Color on Carmel Screen

"Drums Along the Mohawk", Walter D. Edmonds' novel filmed in technicolor, comes to the Carmel theater Sunday to Tuesday, bringing a story of adventure against an authentic upstate New York historical background.

Claudette Colbert is cast as the delicately reared girl who marries Henry Fonda and whom experience turns into a fearless pioneer woman who fights ruthless Indians by the side of her young husband.

The beautiful Mohawk valley is shown aflame when the marauding Indians fire the farms and massacre the inhabitants, one of the exciting episodes in this Darryl F. Zanuck production for 20th Century Fox.

Mrs. F. W. Clappett arrived home from the East on Wednesday and will have as her Christmas guests, Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Clappett of San Francisco, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Clappett of San Francisco, Donald Clappett, Mrs. Peggy Clappett, Mrs. Connie Bell, Cornelia and Nancy Shun, and Milancy Smith.

Irish Plays This Evening Directed by Herbert Heron

A charming evening of short plays is offered by Herbert Heron, director, and the group which has been working with him through the autumn months on the Irish drama. Those interested are invited without charge to attend the presentation at Sunset auditorium this evening at 8:30.

The program will combine the beautiful simplicity of Lady Gregory's miracle plays and the rich, racy comedy of her world-famous dramas of the Irish peasants.

First on the program is "The Traveling Man", a short miracle play, deep and tender, and peculiarly fitted to presentation at this season when the spirit of Christmas is forgotten in so many parts of the world.

There are only three characters in this play, the mother, played by Gloria Rollin, an actress of great ability and experience; her son, played by Oliver Bassett, a pupil of Sunset school; and the traveling man, played by Heron, poor, cold and hungry, who comes to the lonely cottage for food and shelter.

A musical intermission will be provided, followed by the longer play, "Spreading the News", justly famous as a comedy of gossip and its results.

The cast of ten players includes some well known to Carmel audiences through past performances, and some who are new.

Outstanding roles include that of Mrs. Fallon, created by the great Irish actress, Sara Allgood, now done by Edith Frisbie, whose character work has made a name for her on the Carmel stage. Wilma Bott plays Mrs. Tarpey, the apple woman; Robert Johnson, of Stanford, is the pitiful and unfortunate husband of Mrs. Fallon.

Robert Johnson, who has made the trip from Salinas twice a week for two years to work with this group, plays the part of the vain magistrate. F. O. Robbins, Forest Theater and indoor stage veteran of many years, is the policeman. Frank Dickinson is Red Jack Smith, and smaller parts are taken by Alison Maler, Marion Hoes, Alex Gibson and William Millis.

Settings are by John Cunningham. William France is in charge of lights, Olga Taylor is in charge of costumes, and properties are handled by Sally Fry and Cecile Hampton. Dorothy Stephenson is the capable stage manager.

RED CROSS SEEKS DONATION OF LARGE RUG FOR HOME

A Carmel home, in which there are small children playing on a cold floor, can use a large rug, 12x15 or smaller, according to Red Cross Director C. W. Lee. Anyone wishing to give away a rug should call the Red Cross office.

Del Monte Makes Christmas Plans for Full Week

Christmas lights on the trees of the Hotel park have been lit and Del Monte is looking forward to one of the most colorful holiday celebrations in many years.

Highlight of the festivities will, of course, be the traditional New Year's Dinner Dance in the main dining room of the hotel to the music of Buddy Maleville and his Mutual network orchestra.

MRS. WILLIAM NYE DEAD

Friends in Carmel learned this week of the death of Mrs. William Nye Monday in Palo Alto. Her late husband was a printer in The Pine Cone plant when it was owned by the founder, William Overstreet, and occupied premises on Ocean avenue. She had been previously married to the late E. K. Blood, originator of Hallett's grocery in 1924 and builder of the Charmak and Chandler building. Blood died in 1925.
